For each of the categories below, you need to research at least 3 interesting pieces of information and write it onto your white research chart. Here are some suggested items that you may want to research for each category.

Remember that in the southern hemisphere, the seasons are reversed compared to the northern hemisphere. Also remember that countries located in the tropics don't have four seasons.
Does your country have a rainy or dry season? If so, when are they (what months)?

Foods and Drinks: What food is typically grown, raised or caught?
What are some special foods and drinks?

Languages: What languages are spoken? What are some examples of words used? Describe the alphabet.

Religion/Leisure: What are the main religions?
What are the special holidays?
When are the holidays?
What do people do during their free time?
What are some common sports?

Economy: What are the main exports (things sold to other countries) and imports (things bought from other countries)?
What is the currency? What are common jobs?

Individual Inquiry: What else are you wondering about?
What other questions do you have about your country?
Write down three extra questions about your country, and answer them on the white chart paper.

The above questions in each category are just suggestions. You can research any interesting information for each section, but remember you need to record at least 3 pieces of information for each category. The more information you find, the more interesting your report will become for you and your curious teacher.

Happy Researching!!!!!!
